MORAL SUPPORT

Japanese Warships Guarding Russian War Supplies at Vladivostok.

Special Despatch to Tan St Washington, March 2 - President Wilson is understood to concur fully in the views of the British and French trusted to carry out the proposed Sibethan campaign with no thought of territorial aggrandizement or selfish motives. The question of formally indorsing a Jepanese military expedition into Siberia delicate here. No decision of this Government's attitude on this point has been announced.

The feature of the question understood to be uppermost in the President's concerns the effect such action have on the present situation in Russia. On the other hand, there is feat that the Russian people will interpret such a move as a hostile invasion, and that German agents will be quick to seize on this interpretation for the purpose of inflaming the people of Russia. #### Lieutenant. Not a Gan Knocked Out.

An artiflery Captain, terribly wounded but standing at his post, which was ex-posed to the enemy's shells, calmly di-recting the fire of his guns, is typical of our artillers men, who fired steadily fo enemy shelling. One gun is marked with a groove the whole length of the barret where a German shell struck and others were nicked, but not a single one was
